

Englishtype JUNIOR

Touch Typing for Children
Designed to meet the special needs of Dyslexic children

www.englishtypejunior.com

- Developed by an Educational Psychologist especially for use in the UK
- Maximises additional literacy benefits at the same time as teaching typing
- Encourages the development of reading and spelling
- Follows Key Stages 1-3 of the National Curriculum, and uses all the words in the National Literacy Strategy
- Unique Dyslexia and Special Needs features include:
 - Multi-sensory approach
 - Strong key / finger colour coding
 - Visually simple & uncluttered presentation style
 - Both spoken & written instructions
- Short, motivating self-taught lessons
- Fun games to encourage painless practice
- Different, effective way to learn to spell
- Proven track record in teaching to type in a week
- See our website for a demonstration lesson

"It was great to learn how to touch type, I didn't have to write with a pen, because I hated writing at that time because I find English very hard. I was top of the class. I think you should touch type it is a very good skill when you are older."

Daniel, aged 12, dyslexic